

② What is information -

Information is processed, organised and structured data. It provides context for data and enables decision making.