

(1) What is the definition of Data?

A → Data is information that has been translated into a form that is efficient for movement or processing or Data is information converted into binary digital form.